Re: United States v. Davit Yeghoyan
20 Cr. 652 (VM)

Dear Judge Fox:

Defendant Davit Yeghoyan (“Yeghoyan”) is at liberty on a bond that contains numerous conditions including the posting of two properties as security. One of the properties that was presented to government and the Court that set Yeghoyan’s bond, an apartment in Yonkers, New York, is no longer available. Yeghoyan has identified a substitute property, a home located at 153 Jackson Avenue Staten Island, New York 10305, that is acceptable to, and approved by, the government. For this reason, Yeghoyan respectfully request that his bond be modified to requiring the posting of the Staten Island property in the place of the Yonkers property currently on the bond.

The owner of the Staten Island property is Astghik Shmavoyan (“Shmavoyan”), currently a co-signor on the bond of co-defendant Narek Marutyan (“Marutyan”). In order to post the property for Yeghoyan, she is required to be a signor on his bond. As a result, a substitute surety that has been vetted and approved by the government is prepared to sign Marutyan’s bond as a replacement for Shmavoyan and Shmavoyan has been approved to sign Yeghoyan’s bond. Yeghoyan respectfully requests that the Court authorize this substitution.

This application is made to this Court because the District Judge assigned to case has referred all bail issues the Magistrate Court. The government consents to both of these applications. Thank you for Your Honor's consideration of these requests.

Very truly yours,
